Communication Transformation: Company Fact Sheet

Communication Transformation was founded in February 2006 as a life coaching, life retreat, and consulting company under the name Transformative Journeys Life Coaching. In January 2007, Communication Transformation was established as a separate company from Transformative Journeys in order to focus on professional forms of communication.

The Founder and President of Communication Transformation is internationally acclaimed coach and presenter, Felicia J. Slattery, M.A., M.Ad.Ed. During her professional and academic career Slattery has personally trained more than a thousand people from all over the world in various forms of communication skills so they can live their happiest and most successful, fulfilled lives at work and at home.

Communication Transformation offers corporate consulting, private individual consulting, keynote public speaking, live training and teleseminars on all topics of communication. The most popular service is a 20-minute public speaking presentation preparation that is both fast and highly effective at getting clients the results they desire from their presentations. Also offered is a highly popular Signature Speech Work Group class that helps participants create a signature speech in order to market their businesses. More information about this class, offered several times per year, can be found at <http://www.CashInOnSpeaking.com>.

Communication Transformation is located in Oswego, Illinois, a far west suburb of Chicago. The company is a sole proprietorship run by owner, founder and president, Felicia J. Slattery, M.A., M.Ad.Ed. She can be contacted at Felicia@CommunicationTransformation.com or at 630-554-0636.
